The Workshop: Be prepared to come and learn how to build your program and create new programs within your existing program framework on a solid foundation. Interaction teams will occur throughout the presentation and you will leave with a capacity plan in hand to build your program on the principles of Jim Collins' "Good to Great and the Social Sectors". A Program Action - Logic Model will also be given, investigated and applied. After attending this workshop you will leave with a clear plan of action to restore, rethink, and build a stronger foundation. Three key areas of learning will be:

1. What are the components of a solid Program foundation?
2. How do I implement a Program Action Logic Model?
3. What do I do now? You will leave with a capacity plan and action steps in your hand for your organization's program foundation.

Never again will you say that you do not know of a way to build the foundation for your program that will stand the test of time and effort. The principles being shared have been tried and proven by large and small social service programs and business models. The presenter, Mary Ann Harkema, has personally implemented these principles to build a successful Social Service Ministry that is beginning its 29th year of services in the greater Lansing area.

The Presenter: Mary Ann Harkema, BA in Education from Calvin College, has been a key developer in the national LOVE INC Program movement.
