ENTREPRENEURS

Everybody knows that Michigan's economy is suffering, but there are still opportunities for ambitious entrepreneurs.

The demand for locally grown food continues to grow while the numerous area farmer's markets desperately need vendors.

MSU Extension of Eaton and Ingham Counties is offering a series of enterprise seminars for those interested in small scale food production for local markets.

These programs are designed for the novice or experienced gardener who would like to start or expand production as an income supplement.

Start your own business today and supplement your income.
